American Heroes Air Show

Canton, Georgia

September 11, 2010

We are very proud to announce that we are moving the site of the American Heroes Air Show in Canton Georgia to an upgraded location.

On September 11th this admission free aviation event - in conjunction with the Atlanta Helicopter Pilots Association and EAA Warbird Squadron 17 of Woodstock, Georgia - invites your team to join us at the Heritage Recreation Park in the heart of the Canton community.

Produced by volunteers in communities from coast to coast, the American Heroes Air Show is the nation's premier admission-free, helicopter-only aviation experience and provides a unique opportunity for the public to view military and civilian helicopters that assist in Public Safety, Emergency Preparedness and National Defense and homeland Security.

Moving our event to the Heritage Recreation Park allows us to accommodate the increasing number of helicopters, recruiting teams and vendors and Heritage Park will provide an upscale location for our American Anthem presentation which welcomes serving members of the U.S. military at they stand up, recite their Oath of Allegiance and become America's newest citizens.

Mike Grier, Volunteer – Event Director, invites the Canton community to the special naturalization ceremony. “ these men and women have always been our heroes, we invite the public to join us as they become America's newest citizens...”
