ELEMENT PROFILE \\ CODE3 Career & Recruiting Expo

Over the years, as more law enforcement, military and public safety agencies requested event space for their recruiting efforts at the admission-free American Heroes Air Show, we created the CODE3 Career & Recruiting Expo. Many private schools quickly learned the significant marketing opportunities available as they connected with event guests attending to learn about career opps from speaking with various law enforcement, military and homeland security organizations that were attending. In addition to talking with public service professionals, guests could also learn about schools' classes in Criminal Justice, Homeland Security and Emergency preparedness ... classes that provide the on-ramp to exhibiting reliable careers. Schools' goals in attending the CODE3 Career program include:

- Profile class topics & upcoming schedules.
- Overview the application and entrance procedures.
- Introduce professors & teaching staff.
- Provide information on class fees and opportunities for tuition assistance.

With our strong event focus on aviation, law enforcement, criminal justice, military and homeland security, this event has become a magnet for men and women anxious to learn about the first steps to an education that is often the on-ramp to reliable careers in public service, Criminal Justice, homeland security and the military.

above, STRAYER UNIVERSITY rolls into the CODE3 Career Expo at the Heroes Air Show in Austin Texas. .

In Georgia, members of the U.S. – ATF roll out with their gear to support the law enforcement recruiting effort at the Heroes Air Show in Canton – near Atlanta.

In Los Angeles CA, the University of Phoenix / Military Division shows off the banner their parachute team jumped into the event with to promote Univ. Phx. classes in public safety and criminal justice. Their booth was setup next to the FBI Recruiting team

The AMERICAN HEROES Air Show in Fort Myers, Florida welcomes the marketing team from Southwest Florida College who met with attending military and families to discuss their upcoming classes in Criminal Justice
